

Jordon Gerard

Bio:

At just 13 years old, Jordon has already discovered that the stage is his home. He has been acting since the fall of 2020, learning theater basics during the pandemic through a virtual class. Since then, he has acted at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts and has spent the last two summers acting with Set the Stage (now called Places) at the Arts Garage in Delray Beach. He played the main villain and lead in separate performances two summers ago, and was excited to take on the lead role in G-Star's fall play, The Boy Who Stole the Stars. His other most recent performances have been as Doc in Divergent Paths (at Set the Stage) and playing an original ukulele solo in his previous school's talent show. He's a dreamer, an artist, and a walking Spider-Man encyclopedia!
